

Peek-A-Boo Pieces

Directions:

1. Color all pages with water-base markers (permanent markers might bleed through the paper) or colored pencils.
2. Cut out "peek-a-boo" pieces. Cut around tab. DO NOT cut "peek-a-boo" pieces. Cut around tab. DO NOT cut off tab.
3. Laminate, or use clear contact paper, on all pages and pieces.
4. Using a razor or mat knife, cut a slit along the dotted lines on each book page.
5. Fold the tab part of each peek-a-boo piece toward the piece itself to make a crease. (If you place a ruler along the fold line of the tab and draw a pencil line, this impression will help create a neat fold.) Then open the tab and pull it through the slit on the book page. The tab will be on the back of the page. Then tape the tab in place on the back of the page.
6. To bind the book, either punch two holes on the left margin of each page and use metal rings to hold the book together or have a plastic binder put on with a book binding machine.
