Greetings!

The Milwaukee Jewish Federation publishes the Guide to Jewish Wisconsin as an annual invitation to discover how exciting Jewish life can be in the Badger State. Whether you're a newcomer or a native, the Guide will help you get to know the people and the organizations that make our state a rich and fulfilling place to be Jewish. We hope newcomers will use the Guide to become acquainted with our state's vibrant Jewish life, and current residents will use it to get even more of what our community has to offer.

After a year of isolation, many of us are eager to reconnect. Here are a few more ways to learn about local Jewish life:

- Bookmark the online Guide at MilwaukeeJewish.org/Guide.
- Text WJC to 51555 to get text alerts from the Wisconsin Jewish Chronicle.
- Subscribe to the monthly print edition of the Chronicle at JewishChronicle.org/FreeSubscription.
- Sign up for the Milwaukee Jewish Federation's Jewish Community Newsletter at MilwaukeeJewish.org/Newsletter.
- Bookmark the Jewish Community Calendar at MilwaukeeJewish.org/Calendar.
- Contact the Federation's outreach coordinator, Tzipi Altman-Shafer, at (414) 963-2718 or TziporahA@MilwaukeeJewish.org.

About the Cover—Artist Amy Gelfman

I have always thrived on creativity and imagination. As a child I used to draw whimsical characters, ladies with larger-than-life eyes and lots of swirly whirly patterns. I remember feeling discouraged because I could never draw realistically, so eventually I stopped. My husband,

Jonathan, is a trained artist with a great talent and passion for painting.

Whether he likes it or not, Jonathan has become my in-house instructor. Now, in my early 50s and sort of self/husband/world taught, I've decided to stop telling myself that I can't do "this" or "that." I've decided to face and nurture any creative challenge that brings me joy and ultimately makes others happy too.

It has been over five years now, and my hobby has transformed into a business. Jonathan and I have had three exhibits in Milwaukee. In 2017, Northwestern Mutual Foundation chose 17 Wisconsin-based artists and paired them with a charity. We were honored to be paired with Sojourners Family Peace Center. The finished piece can be viewed at the Northwestern Mutual building in Milwaukee. In the music arena, I had the pleasure of writing lyrics for two CDs through a collaboration between Target Corporation and Parent Magazine.

Much of my inspiration comes from my love of the Jewish life, culture and traditions. Most of my artwork is commissioned-based. I always feel closer to the people for whom I paint and feel privileged to get to know them and their families more intimately through art.

I continue to grow and learn from the world around me as art has opened my eyes to pause and take a deeper look. While it seems that painting is my passion, it truly is connecting to my fellow human beings, facilitating opportunities for others to connect and enhancing those relationships. Creativity is universal. It gives me hope for the future!

A private contractor for Ovation Communities, Amy sings with seniors, many with dementia and Alzheimer's.

The Milwaukee Jewish Federation cares for the needs of the Jewish people and builds a vibrant Jewish future in Milwaukee, in Israel and around the world. We are thousands of Milwaukeeans who contribute financial resources, time, and expertise that, combined with the power of our partner agencies, make an impact none of us can make alone. It's the power of collective action, and it's what the Federation is all about.

We are part of a network of Jewish Federations across the United States and Canada that collectively are among the top 10 charities in the world. Our movement raises and distributes more than $4 billion annually for social welfare, social services and educational needs, and protects and enhances the well-being of Jews worldwide.

In our role as the center for Jewish philanthropy in Milwaukee, we're leading the local Jewish community's response to and recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic. We're helping the many individuals and families who are struggling or seeking connection to Jewish life, and we're supporting the Jewish organizations that serve them.

BRIT MILAH (Covenant of circumcision)

You shall be circumcised in the flesh of your foreskin; and it shall be a token of the covenant between Me and you.
— Genesis 17:11

Male babies are circumcised on the eighth day, barring health problems, to symbolize the covenant between God and the Jewish people.

SIMCHAT BAT (Rejoicing for a daughter)

Traditionally, a daughter is named in the synagogue during the Torah reading after her birth. Some people now develop their own ceremonies to welcome a new daughter.

PIDYON HABEN (Redemption of the first-born)

Sanctify unto Me all the first-born, whatever opens the womb among the children of Israel, both of man and of beast, it is Mine. — Exodus 13:2

Redemption of the first-born son (if he is the family's first child) takes place 30 days after birth. In ancient Israel, the first-born were dedicated to serve God in the Temple. To redeem them, five shekels were paid to the kohen (priest) to serve in the boys' stead. Today, the kohen is given five silver dollars, which are donated to charity, and a festive meal follows.

BAR AND BAT MITZVAH

The ceremony to honor the coming of age of males originated in the Middle Ages. There is no source for this celebration in the Torah.

In traditional settings, this is the first time that a young man is called to bless the Torah. The 13-year-old thus becomes responsible for the mitzvot (commandments) of praying three times a day, participating in a minyán (prayer quorum) and putting on tefillin every morning. Over the past 50 years, girls have embraced the opportunity to celebrate a Jewish coming of age at 12 or 13. In egalitarian settings, girls celebrate through saying blessings before and after the Torah reading, counting in a prayer quorum, and observing Jewish commandments. Non-traditional ceremonies have emerged within the last 50 years for young women (ages 12 or 13) and adults past traditional bar/bat mitzvah age.

CONFIRMATION

A ceremony held in Reform and Conservative synagogues, usually during the observance of Shavuot, to celebrate the Jewish commitment of the congregation's 10th or 11th graders. The students usually have completed post-bar/bat mitzvah Jewish study.

MIKVAH (Ritual bath)

"Living" water (collected rain water piped into a pool) is used for purification. During the days of the Temples in Jerusalem, there were many occasions when ritual purification was required in order to participate in the Temple services. Today, only women still are required under Jewish law to immerse themselves at special times (before marriage, after childbirth, after the menstrual cycle). Immersion also is required by Jewish law before conversion. Many observant men immerse themselves before the Sabbath and holidays for spiritual reasons.

CHANUKAT HABAYIT (Dedicating the home)

And these words, which I command these this day shall be upon thy heart ... and you shall write them upon the doorposts of your house and upon your gates. — Deuteronomy: 6:6-9

Affixing mezuzot (decorative casings containing parchments with biblical inscriptions) to the doorposts of a new home is cause for celebration. Traditionally, this is done within 30 days of moving into a house or apartment. Mezuzot are placed on the upper third of the doorpost, on the right side as one enters. The ceremony is followed by refreshments and rejoicing.

MARRIAGE

And the Lord said: "It is not good that the man should be alone, I shall make him a helpmate for him." — Genesis 2:18

One of the first blessings every parent bestows upon a child is that he or she reach the marriage canopy. This wedding consists of several parts. The main elements are kiddush erusin (sanctification of betrothal); the betrothal blessing; presentation of the ring; reading of the ketubah (marriage contract) and its presentation to the bride; recitation of the seven marriage blessings; drinking of wine to sanctify the marriage and breaking of the glass to remember the destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem even amidst the joy of the occasion. Traditional weddings are preceded by the bedeken, in which the groom places the veil over the bride's head after making certain that he is getting the correct bride. This custom stems from the patriarch Jacob, who was fooled into marrying his intended bride's sister.

DIVORCE

Judaism recognizes that not every marriage is successful and allows for divorce. Financial provisions are made in the ketubah (marriage contract). Under Jewish law, a get (religious divorce) is required in addition to a civil divorce. Although both parties must agree to the get, no grounds are required. The beit din (religious court) prepares the get and handles the documents.

DEATH

Jewish tradition recognizes death as the completion of life. Burial takes place as soon as possible, preferably within 24 hours. Traditionally, the body is washed by members of a chevra kadisha (burial society) and dressed in white linen garments, so that everyone goes to the grave equally. Preserving the body through embalming is prohibited by Jewish law, as are metal caskets, which preserve the remains. Judaism has a formalized mourning procedure with seven days of intense mourning (shiva) followed by 30 days of semi-mourning (shloshim). After a parent's death, semi-mourning continues for a year.

Holidays

SHABBAT (Sabbath)

And God blessed the seventh day and hallowed it. — Genesis 2:3

The Sabbath, a day of rest, worship and study, begins 20 minutes before sundown Friday night and ends at nightfall on Saturday, when three stars can be seen in the sky.

ROSH HASHANAH

(Jewish New Year) ☆ 1-2 Tishrei

And on the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall have a holy convocation. — Numbers 29:1

The beginning of the Jewish calendar year, Rosh HaShanah begins the Ten Days of Awe, a period of repentance and prayer that concludes on Yom Kippur. Traditions include dipping apples in honey to symbolize a sweet year and using round loaves of challah to symbolize the cycle of life.

YOM KIPPUR

(Day of Atonement) ☆ 10 Tishrei

And on the 10th day of the seventh month... you shall afflict your souls. — Numbers 29:7

On this holiest of holidays, Jews everywhere fast and pray for forgiveness for their sins. The sounding of the shofar (ram's horn) signals the end of the holiday.

SUKKOT

(Festival of Booths) ☆ 15-21 Tishrei

On the 15th day of the seventh month is the feast of Tabernacles for seven days. — Leviticus 23:34

On this first of the three pilgrimage holidays, farmers in ancient Israel traveled to the Temple in Jerusalem with the fruits of their harvest.

Today, Jews erect sukkot (booths) modeled after the make-shift huts their ancestors lived in during the 40 years wandering in Sinai. For the week of the holiday, meals are eaten in the sukkah, and some Jews sleep in the sukkah as well.

SHEMINI ATZERET

(Eighth Day of Assembly) ☆ 22 Tishrei

On the eighth day, you shall have a solemn assembly. — Numbers 29:35

In the diaspora, Shemini Atzeret is a separate holiday that signals the end of Sukkot. In Israel, the holiday is celebrated on Simchat Torah. The prayer for rain is said, ending the dry season in Israel.

SIMCHAT TORAH

(Rejoicing for the Torah) ☆ 23 Tishrei

... and on the eighth day, there shall be a holy convocation for you. — Leviticus 23:34

The annual cycle of reading the Torah (Five Books of Moses) aloud in the synagogue is completed, and a new cycle begins. The holiday is celebrated with dance and song.

CHANUKAH

(Festival of Lights) ☆ 25 Kislev-2 Tevet

A minor festival not derived from the Torah, Chanukah celebrates the victory of the Jews over the Seleucid Greek/ Hellenists, the regaining of Jerusalem and rededication of the Holy Temple.

According to tradition, the miracle of Chanukah stems from the one cruse of consecrated oil that was discovered in the Temple, which burned for eight days until more pure oil could be made. Foods fried in oil, such as latkes (potato pancakes) and sufganiot (jelly donuts), are eaten.

TU B'SHEVAT

(New Year for Trees) ☆ 15 Shevat

To celebrate the coming of spring to Israel, some people eat fruits that are newly in season as part of a festive meal featuring many new fruits.

PURIM

(Lots) ☆ 14 Adar

The Book of Esther is read in the synagogue on this holiday, which is also of the post-Torah period. Celebrants dress in costume and make merry. Purim celebrates the rescue of the Jews in ancient Persia on a day that, according to tradition, was determined by lot.

Families send gifts of food to one another and donate to charity. Traditional foods include hamantaschen (triangular cookies filled with fruit or poppy seeds). A festive meal is eaten before sunset.

PESACH

(Passover) ☆ 15-22 Nissan

Seven days shall there be no leaven found in your houses; for whosoever eats that which is leavened, that soul shall be cut off from the congregation of Israel. — Exodus 12:19

The eight-day festival (seven days in Israel) commemorates the Jewish exodus from Egypt. On the first two nights, families gather for a seder, a ritual meal focused on the reading of the Hagaddah, an account of the exodus. Matzah (unleavened bread) is eaten throughout the holiday.

YOM HASHOAH

(Holocaust Remembrance Day) ☆ 27 Nissan

On this day, Jews commemorate the victims of, and the resistance to, the German Nazi genocide of European Jewry during World War II.

YOM HAZIKARON

(Israel's Memorial Day) ☆ 3 Iyar

Jews around the world remember those who gave their lives for the achievement of Israel's independence and its continued existence.

YOM HAATZMAUT

(Israel Independence Day) ☆ 4 Iyar

Celebrating the birth of the State of Israel in 1948, Jews around the world hold parades and picnics.

LAG B'OMER

(33rd day during the counting of the Omer) ☆ 18 Iyar

Lag B'Omer is a break in the weeks of semi-mourning between Pesach and Shavuot. Traditionally, it commemorates a halt in a plague that afflicted Rabbi Akiva's students in ancient Israel. The holiday is celebrated with picnics and bonfires.

SHAVUOT

(Festival of Weeks) ☆ 6-7 Sivan

And the Lord said unto Moses: "Lo I come unto thee in a cloud that the people may hear when I speak with thee." — Exodus 34:22

The anniversary of receiving the Torah on Mt. Sinai falls seven weeks after Passover. One of the three pilgrimage festivals, it celebrates the end of the spring harvest. The holiday's customs include decorating the home and synagogue with flowers, eating dairy products and staying up the entire night studying.

TISHA B'AV

(Ninth Day of Av)

Tisha B'Av is a day of fasting and mourning for the Holy Temples in Jerusalem, both of which were destroyed on this day. The book of Lamentations is read. Traditionally, no leather shoes are worn.

THE RABBI RONALD AND JUDY SHAPIRO MUSEUM OF JUDAICA — CONGREGATION SHALOM

7630 N. Santa Monica Blvd.
Milwaukee, WI 53217

(414) 352-9288

The Rabbi Ronald and Judy Shapiro Museum of Judaica at Congregation Shalom is designed to showcase artifacts and art relevant to Jewish religion, culture, and history, while additionally depicting Congregation Shalom’s decades-long presence as a Jewish Reform synagogue in the Midwest.

The Museum is housed in four areas throughout the circular-shaped synagogue, with each section created to draw visitors into distinct periods of Jewish art and culture. More than 225 items have been catalogued to depict:

- Religious artifacts, archaeological finds, literature and art that reflect centuries-old contributions of Jewish people across the Mideast, Europe and the United States;
- A Midrashic art collection of 19th and 20th century works reflecting stories from the Hebrew Bible, including pieces by Joseph Israels, Salvador Dali, Theo Tobiassie and Marc Chagall;
- Works of internationally-renown artists such as Yaacov Agam and Reuven Rubin that celebrate the energy and spirit of modern-day Israel;
- Household items and art retrieved from the homes of European Jews who were caught up in the Holocaust. These items are displayed alongside works of post-war Jewish American artists paying tribute to “life in the Old World”; the exhibit includes the only known mural ever executed by famed Wisconsin regional artist Joseph Frieibert.

This section also displays a 19th century Czech Torah rescued during WWII and sent to the U.K. This Torah is now proudly housed on permanent loan at Congregation Shalom.

In addition to Joseph Frieibert’s mural, The Rabbi Ronald and Judy Shapiro Museum of Judaica houses custom works by internationally known sculptors Richard Edelman and Suzi Derzon. Their unique contributions in bronze, metal, tapestry and stained glass not only constitute the core of the Museum, but are also viewed by congregants as integral to our daily synagogue activities and services.

Signage in each section allows for self-guided tours; free docent group tours can also be arranged by appointment.

Active daily water play, sports specials and playground time combine with an in-depth exploration of our natural environment central to our summer curriculum. From this stems a rich blend of science, art, construction, dramatic play and language arts activities. This year the children will be exploring habitats of people and various wildlife and their environments. We will become nature detectives with our visiting naturalists to enhance our knowledge and experiences. Incorporating materials from nature, we will create works of art that inspire wonder and appreciation for the outdoors. We look forward to celebrating the whole child and the sensory joys of summer. Through physical activity and calm reflection, we will examine our connection to each other and the natural world around us.

HerzlCamp.org

Herzl Camp is a warm, welcoming Jewish community — big enough to offer a variety of activities but small enough for everyone to know one another.

Our camp is located on 120 acres on the shores of crystal clear Devils Lake in Webster, Wisconsin. Herzl Camp is a traditional camp experience where campers escape from technology to spend lots of time outdoors, exploring nature, trying new sports and activities while building friendships and self-confidence. We are an independent, non-profit, transdenominational camp and, for over 70 years, Herzl has been the place for kids to go for summers full of ruach (spirit), Shabbat and friendship. A summer at Herzl builds independence and self-reliance as well as Jewish identity and friendships that last a lifetime.

Activities include sports, music, swimming, boating, rock climbing, Ultimate Frisbee, drama, dance, Israeli culture, organic gardening, wilderness skills, archery, photography and biking. Counselors and specialists are selected for their skill, maturity, knowledge and natural connection with children. Most are Herzl Camp alumni. 1:3 staff-to-camper ratio. One- through six-week sessions. Entering grades 3-11. ACA accredited.

Explore our website to learn more and then call us to discuss your child's interests. We look forward to getting to know you!

Judaic values are the heart of all our summer experiences, and are the thread that connects us to one another and to each experience.

Camp at MJP

Based on the idea that children have a hundred languages, we are prepared for a challenging, explorative and fun summer. We offer children an opportunity to engage in both outdoor and indoor experiences and explorations, while each child finds a place for his or her interests:

Our focus is on how we spend our summer days:

Art, Dance, and Music

Summer is the perfect natural landscape for expressive languages.

Organic Gardening

All gardening preparations: soil, seedlings, harvesting and cooking with the food we grow.

Cooking

Children will prepare delicious and nutritious dishes to share and enjoy with their friends.

Sports

Children develop skills and learn sports, such as basketball, hockey, T-ball and more.

Water Activities

Children experience water through an array of creative water toys, games, and wading pools.

for families to create community. Our co-constructed curriculum emerges from the interests and ideas of the children in collaboration with the teachers. We strive to provide a happy and relaxed learning situation that emphasizes the process of learning and the pleasure of discovery. As part of our belief that learning takes place through play and hands-on experiences, children are encouraged to develop creativity and critical thinking skills through a balance of structured activities and interactive play. We provide opportunities for our parents and teachers to grow and learn about child development, parenting and Jewish life. Being a part of a diverse community, we create connections that enrich our everyday living and learning.

"This world is G-d's garden, but for a garden to produce good fruit, one must work particularly hard. It takes more toil and more time." —Rabbi M. Schneersohn, the Lubavitcher Rebbe MJP follows the vision of the Rebbe in believing that education is mainly about building character with emphasis on moral and ethical values. We create a rich and challenging educational landscape, which fosters expression in a variety of ways and invites all children to absorb and discover the world around them.

Our curriculum brings Judaism to life through Torah traditions, mitzvot and our connection to Israel. Integrated with the inspiration of the Reggio Emilia educational approach, which believes in a research-based thematic learning that supports academic skills, construction of knowledge and divergent thinking.

The Jewish Burial Association of Madison is an IRS 501(c)(3) not-for-profit entity that operates Beit Olamim, the Jewish cemetery in the northeast corner of the Sunset Memory Gardens Cemetery. Beit Olamim has two distinct and equally beautiful and meaningful areas for burial: Sha'ar HaRachamin (Gates of Compassion), which requires those who are buried to be Jewish, as defined in the rules and regulations. This section does not permit burial of cremains. Sha'ar Shalom (Gates of Peace), which requires those who are buried to have been born Jewish, converted to Judaism, or a close relative of a Jewish person who was buried or expects to be buried here. It also allows burial of cremains. Requirements for burial in these sections are in the JBAM "Rules and Regulations" document on our website.

The blessing of a Jewish marriage comes with a special set of laws and a careful attention to values. The bride and groom are taught concisely the many details pertaining to the laws of family purity. Additionally, they are inspired by the beauty of the Jewish mindset regarding intimate relationships. These classes are also offered to already-married-couples who are interested in learning or reviewing these principles.

Executive Director:

Ellen Friebert Schupper, Ellen@ABCDMentor.org

Headquartered in Milwaukee, ABCD is a national breast cancer organization that nurtures hope and restores confidence by providing free, customized, one-to-one emotional support to empower anyone impacted by a breast cancer diagnosis — patients, families and friends. Working as a complement to medical care, all of our support services are delivered virtually over the phone or online, making them available anywhere in the world. Decades of research indicate that patients who take advantage of non-clinical support like ABCD's customized, one-to-one support are more likely to finish treatment, have improved survival rates, show a reduced risk of recurrence, and report experiencing less distress, healthier social relationships, and an improved quality of life.

Our signature service is creating a unique match between a breast cancer patient and a professionally trained volunteer mentor/breast cancer survivor or thriver who not only share a similar diagnosis and treatment plan, but also have common interests, similar ages, personal traits and family dynamics. We currently have 255 active and diverse mentors located throughout the United States, enabling us to make truly personalized connections. ABCD also connects people with trusted, reliable resources to help answer questions about diagnoses, appearance products like wigs, survivorship care, and work and life issues. Our confidential services can be delivered at time of diagnosis, during treatment and on into survivorship.

Milwaukee, WI 53217

(414) 964-4444

JCCMilwaukee.org

President/CEO: Mark Shapiro

Chair: Nancy Kennedy Barnett

The Harry & Rose Samson Family Jewish Community Center is a non-profit, social service agency founded upon Jewish ethics and values that serves the whole community as a destination for wellness, education, and comprehensive social services. The vision of the JCC is to maximize the use of programs and services, the position in the community, and the accessibility of the Jewish Community Center to welcome all Jews and their families, to help them move along a continuum of Jewish growth, and to build Jewish memories.

The JCC is a partner agency of the Milwaukee Jewish Federation, is affiliated with the JCC Association of North America, and a beneficiary of the United Way of Greater Milwaukee and Waukesha County.

Founded in 1867, our mission is to provide supportive services that will strengthen families, children and individuals throughout the life cycle within the context of their unique needs and traditions. We serve nearly 2,500 individuals annually, including children, seniors, adults with disabilities, mental health problems, and substance use disorders and families with low household incomes. Our programs include mental health and counseling services, private pay and contract based case management services, social services, and affordable and supported housing. Our service area includes Milwaukee, Waukesha, Washington and Ozaukee Counties.

Jewish Family Services, Inc. is a partner agency of the Milwaukee Jewish Federation and a beneficiary of the United Way of Greater Milwaukee and Waukesha County.

■ Counseling

● Outpatient Mental Health Clinic

Contact: Clinical Services Coordinator,
Clinic@JFSMilw.org • (414) 225-1374

Through our state-certified outpatient mental health clinic, JFS clinical staff offers results-oriented therapy to individuals struggling with mental illness or personal problems. Our multidisciplinary team is qualified to assess and treat a range of emotional problems, including: relationship issues, domestic abuse, addictions and more.

● Advocacy and Counseling Services for Survivors of Violent Crimes

Contact: Clinical Services Coordinator,
Clinic@JFSMilw.org • (414) 225-1374

Jewish Family Services provides mental health psychotherapy services to adults and children who have experienced violent crime in the Milwaukee metro area through our state-certified outpatient mental health clinic. In addition, we respond to the advocacy needs in the Jewish community statewide and in the metro Milwaukee area. Our advocacy services offer support to people impacted by interpersonal violence, housing discrimination and antisemitic hate crime. We serve as an expansion of SHOFAR, a call to action to address child sexual abuse, sexual harassment and domestic violence in our community. All services are funded by the Department of Justice and are offered at no cost to the survivor.

SHOFAR (Safeguarding Healthy Families and Relationships) is an initiative of Jewish Family Services supported by the Milwaukee Jewish Federation that addresses child sexual abuse, sexual harassment and domestic violence. Our goals are to build awareness and share resources with the Milwaukee Jewish community and to train community members on how to prevent and address abuse. The project is named after the shofar, a ram's-horn trumpet used by ancient Jews as a battle signal, that in modern times is sounded on some Jewish holy days. It's a fitting name for this initiative, which is a call to action against abuse. For more information contact Jewish Family Services at (414) 390-5800.

Memory Café is a place where people with MCI (Mild Cognitive Impairment), early-stage Alzheimer's or a related dementia can be with their care partners to socialize and have fun with others dealing with a similar situation. They are free and provide a chance to have a great time connecting with each other as a family or creating new friends in a community setting.

● R & R Club

This club offers active individuals experiencing memory loss an early age opportunity to participate in cultural events and interactive experiences.

This innovative program improves quality of life through meaningful social connections. It is the first "model program" in Wisconsin to serve individuals under the age of 65. Club enrollment required. Club members meet every Friday from 9 am–1 pm.

Each 4-hour session includes:

- Coffee and light snack at Rubenstein Family Kosher Oasis and Art Gallery
- Engaging community outing with experienced staff and volunteers
- Lunch with a lakeside view or local restaurant
- MSW led support group

● ReCharge!

Studies suggest that socialization, physical exercise and mental workouts have a direct effect on the brain. This fun, interactive, four-hour class brings people together while working to improve memory, focus and concentration.

- Engage in education topics related to memory
- Participate in mental and physical exercise
- Learn memory techniques and strategies
- Enjoy social support, creativity and laughter

● Spark!

A free program for caregivers and their loved ones experiencing beginning to mid-stage memory loss. This collaborative program with Jewish Museum Milwaukee combines care and featured exhibits. Specially trained museum educators engage participants in lively discussions. Generally meets the first Friday of each month.

Being at CBINT is being part of a family. We are a growing, caring congregation where living and celebrating Judaism spans a lifetime. A warm and welcoming congregation that prides itself on our multi-generational and diverse community, CBINT gathers for egalitarian, traditional and participatory prayer services twice daily throughout the year. With a steady calendar of social, educational, musical and religious programming, CBINT celebrates Jewish living spanning the life cycle. Our religious school program offers a joyful and substantive program for our younger children while our teens strengthen their Jewish networks and leadership skills through our youth group and involvement with the school. The clergy and an active Chesed Committee attend to the pastoral needs of our membership, and we continually seek out ways to make a difference in Milwaukee. Temple Menorah is large in ritual yet intimate in atmosphere. We are a traditional Jewish community, overflowing with a rich Milwaukee history, yet brimming with diversity. Temple Menorah offers religious, social and educational activities year-round. Minyans, stimulating adult education and congregational services are the cornerstones of our family, and our Men's Club and Sisterhood sponsor social activities. Our members are educated about Jewish culture and appreciation of our heritage. We are proud to guarantee affordable synagogue affiliation.

Intimate. At Sinai, you'll be noticed. People will greet you and want to hear your story. Every member of the community is valued and essential. The relationship between congregants, rabbi, cantor and staff is a sacred partnership based upon mutual respect, shared Jewish commitment, and ongoing Jewish growth.

Inclusive. We welcome you from wherever you've come. At Sinai, you'll find people who were born Jewish, converted to Judaism or are in an interfaith relationship; multi-cultural, multi-racial, and multi-ethnic families; and LGBTQ individuals, couples and families. We meet you where you are.

Innovative. Sinai is on the forefront of innovative change. We foster a culture where innovative risk taking is encouraged. This ensures Sinai will be a place where Judaism's most cherished values find a foothold in today's world and add a sense of meaning and a sense of purpose to our lives.

Intentional. Sinai serves as a warm and welcoming gathering place, a place to worship, to be inspired through music, to be challenged by life's essential questions and to seek answers through learning and a commitment to a just and better world.

CBINT hosts chapters of all three Youth Group divisions of the Conservative Movement:

Ruach for children in grades 2-5, Kadima for children in grades 6-8, and USY for teens in grades 9-12. Each division sponsors regular events to build Jewish friendships and strengthen Jewish identity. They inspire Jewish youth to explore, celebrate and practice Jewish ethics, Zionism and Jewish living. CBINT's chapter, MUSY (Milwaukee USY) is part of the CHUSY region, based in Chicagoland. As Wisconsin emerges from Covid, regional conventions and events are being scheduled. USY's International Convention is scheduled in-person for late December in Washington, D.C. Contact CBINT for membership information. Membership in youth groups is open regardless of synagogue affiliation.

Director: Rabbi Daniel Meister

The Milwaukee Alliance for Jewish Reconnection (MAJOR) is an organization which believes in building positive Jewish identity. We accomplish this by teaching people how Jewish perspectives enhance all aspects of their life, whether personal, professional, social or spiritual. Our programs encourage self exploration and self actualization using traditional Jewish wisdom.

Our target audience is people ages 18-35 who are Jewish or seriously interested in Judaism. We currently offer one-on-one meetings, Zoom classes and weekend retreats (Shabbatons). Finally, we direct our students to participate in Jewish trips in America and abroad.

MYTH #12

Bader Hillel
Academy is only for Orthodox Jews.

It's true, a segment of our families identify as Orthodox. In fact, almost half of our families identify as Nonorthodox. At BHA, we're honored to bring together Jewish students from every ethnic, social, economic and Jewish affiliation.
